

Thank you for your interest in our Nature's Head® composting toilet.

We know that the space required by a toilet is an important factor in deciding for or against a model and that simply measuring with a folding rule sometimes does not give the whole picture.

You can print out this template on normal paper, glue it together and possibly transfer it to solid cardboard.

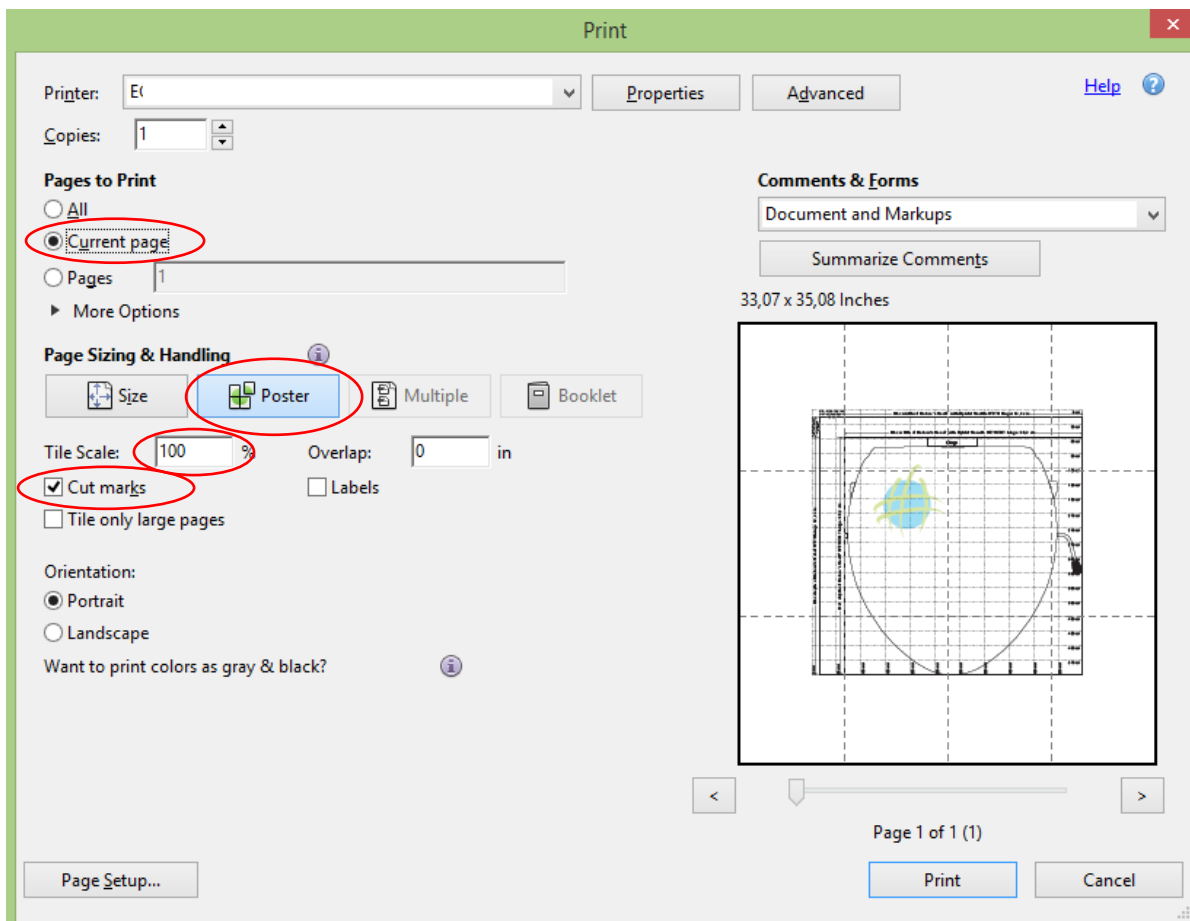

You will find the measurements of the following toilet parts on the following pages:

1st side: Toilet head

2nd side: Solid waste container at floor level

3rd side: Solid waste container upper rim

Once you have selected the desired page, please select the following menu settings from the options in your Adobe Acrobat Reader:

The PDFs are printed out on 6 pages each and must be glued together using the cutting marks. At the bottom right edge you will find the information about the spacing of the grid.

Please note:

1. The outer dimensions show the maximum space required by the Nature's Head® toilet with Spider Handle when the rear hinge is used to tilt the toilet head. You then need approx. 4 cm clearance to the wall behind the toilet when installing the toilet in order to be able to tilt the head. As it is a slip hinge, you also need approx. 5.1 cm clearance to the left (when you are watching standing in front of the toilet).
2. The inner dimensions show the maximum size of the toilet with Spider Handle if the sliding hinge is omitted. This can be done using a 3/16" Allen key. Please note that only the upper part of the hinge should be removed, otherwise insects could enter through the screw holes. Doing without the hinge does not change the use of the toilet, instead of removing the toilet head by tilting and sliding it, it is simply lifted upwards without the hinge.

Note: Each printer has a different setting for the print margin. After gluing the 6 sides together, please check the measurements.
